Acknowledgements

We wish to acknowledge and thank the 39 state ombudsman programs that responded to the Ombudsman Program Survey. The survey collected basic program information on structure, scope of responsibility, quality and funding. The National Association of State Units on Aging (NASUA) conducted the survey from February through April of 2003. Thirty-nine (39) state ombudsman programs responded. Data for those programs is accurate as of April 2003. Data is not included on programs that did not respond to the survey, except for the chart on Sources of Funding Support for State Long-Term Care Ombudsman Programs. Funding data for programs that did not respond to the survey, accurate as of 2001, is also included in the chart.

About the Author

Mark C. Miller, MEd, Senior Program Associate for Elder Rights at NASUA, worked in the Ombudsman Program for 15 years. He has served as both a local ombudsman and as the Virginia State Long-Term Care Ombudsman.

The National Association of State Units on Aging (NASUA) is a private, nonprofit organization whose membership is comprised of the 57 state and territorial offices on aging.

*Idaho: bi-annual on-site monitoring of local programs; on-site technical assistance visit on "off year"

West Virginia: completed annually

Formal evaluation by an outside entity:

Montana: legislative auditors

Other process:

Alaska: on site monitoring based on risk analysis/ self assessment

Colorado: on-site program assessments for regional programs. The assessment is based on the roles and responsibilities set forth in the policies and procedures manual. Consumer satisfaction surveys are included in the evaluation process. The regional programs are also being monitored monthly regarding facility visitation.

Georgia: on-site monitoring, not as frequent as annual. Try to site monitor on a biennial basis.

Louisiana: review of random and select cases

Maine: The Ombudsman Program establishes annual contract performance goals and measures. The program submits annual performance reports to the SUA and detailed program data on activities and accomplishments every six months. There is a continual review of the budget, program goals and objectives by the program's Board of Directors.

Nebraska: monthly reporting and quarterly meeting requirements

New York: Annual assessment by the state ombudsman's office based on the annual operations plan submitted by local programs.

Pennsylvania: study conducted by interns on consumer satisfaction with ombudsman services of volunteer vs. paid staff.

Connecticut, Idaho, Minnesota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Texas: not specified
